EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

GETTYSBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1876.

NUMBER 17.
FIFTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

Baltimore Lock Hospital.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Physician of this celebrated Institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the World for

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE,

Weakness of the Back, or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys, or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Tremblings, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affection of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels, those terrible disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices, more fatal to their victims than the songs of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

especially who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of Young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (loss of Procreative Power—Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other disqualification, speedily relieved.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS,

IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF POWER,

Immediately cured, and full Vigor restored. This distressing affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny, that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS,

Relief in six Hours! No Mercury!

Persons ruined by Ignorant, trifling Pretenders and their Deadly Poisons should apply immediately.

DR. JOHNSON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects of the mind are much to be dreaded: Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to "that undiscovered country, from whence no traveler returns."

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of Ignorant or Unskillful PRETENDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life, Vigor and Happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health, to sigh over his galling disappointment.

To such, therefore, Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrecy, and from his extensive practice and observations in the great Hospitals of Europe, and the first in this country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia and elsewhere, is enabled to offer the most speedy, certain and effectual remedy in the World for all diseases of imprudence.

DR. JOHNSTON,

OFFICE 7 SOUTH FREDERICK STREET,

BALTIMORE, MD.,

left hand side going from Baltimore street, a few doors from the corner. Fail not to observe the name and number.

No letters received unless post-paid and containing a stamp to be used on the reply. Persons writing should state age, and send a portion of advertisement describing symptoms.

There are many Paltry, Designing and Worthless Impostors advertising themselves as Physicians, trifling with and ruining the health of all who unfortunately fall into their power, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say especially to those unacquainted with his reputation, that his Credentials or Diplomas always hang in his office.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this establishment, year after year, and the numerous Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the representatives of the press and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

ADDRESS OF THE CARRIER

OF

The Gettysburg Compiler

JANUARY 1, 1876.

To sing the days when Freedom woke,
And, standing forth, her fetters broke,
When what is now the great I land
Was but a struggling, feeble band
Of patriots ... the liberty's light
Amid the gloom of tyrant's night,
When tyrant's crack, thro' the sky,
Flashed lightning to the loyal eye;
When Washington, etc. son of war,
Led to freedom a ... blood ... car;
And what great ... be won
Was in the century put ...
The fitting task be mine.

Our ... "Honest ... heat ..."
Free ... the soil ... feeds ... ;
A tyrant ruled with cruel sway,
Oppression crushed in deep dismay,
And for those with gloom ... ;
Brave patriots went to learn ... ;
And darkness ... despair
Second ... give the end of hoping
For their heart's ...

Put forth the trump of war awoke,
And ... from her ... ;
The dreadful cry to carnage sound,
And through the land the word resound;
We'll break the hold of foreign bands
On these our own beloved lands;
The world by monarch ruled shall see
This nation proudly will be free,
No kingly potentate shall reign,
No mighty monarch homage gain
In all Columbia's land.

These glorious days of seventy-six
Let patriots firm in memory fix,
In them were wrought the noble deeds
Which blessed a nation and all creeds,
By giving to the world a land
In which, freed from oppression's hand,
The light of liberty may shine
From age to age, till time's decline.
This heritage for us was bought
By deeds that heroes bleeding wrought,
The struggle opened with a fight
When right took issue with bold might,
And conquered in the end.

A hundred years ago to-day
These hills and dales which fruitful lay,
Gave home and shelter to a race
Of savage mien and face,
And what remains of all that race
That once upon these shores we trace?
Fading away—a mournful doom—
Soon the last Indian in the tomb
Will pillow his unhappy head,
Slumbering with the mighty dead,
In future days when long at rest,
Upon some river of the west,
An Athens or a Rome shall rise,
The youth shall ask, with deep surprise,
What manner of men they were who trod,
Their charter given alone by God,
The mighty masters in command
Of this now great and glorious land.
The sons of science sought his bower,
Strong in their intellectual power;
The savage fled in deep disgrace,
And now a remnant of his race
Alone in distant wilds we find,
Sad victims to the might of mind.

Hard times, they say, are coming fast,
To me it seems for some time past
They've been indeed so very tight
That I must strive with all my might
For money (sometimes called a curse),
With which to fill my scanty purse.
When upon my "pile" I gaze,
And remember other days
When of cash there was no need
Then I'm thinking of hungry greed,
And of how a pilfering board
Steals the money from the hoard,
Fast almost as it is paid.
Then in silence, I have said,
Will this people always stand
Stealing on a style so grand?
No! I'm sure the day is near
When, with power and no fear,
They will put the thieves to flight
And strike for honesty and right,
All hail the auspicious day!

This is the year we celebrate,
The year let men of every state
Join hand and heart in harmony
And raise a joyous symphony
In honor of our natal year,
And every heart be full of cheer.
The great display we shall behold,
The myriad objects now untold,
In number like the forest leaves,
Or like the strands the spider weaves,
The North, the East, the South, the West,
Will all contribute of their best.
The works of art and science too,
Of ancient things and things quite new,
What grows upon our acres broad,
And what we've dug from 'neath the sod,
All, all we'll bring and lay them down
A tribute to our great renown,
On Fairmount's spreading green we'll share
With nations we've invited there
The honors of the time.

All lands and peoples we shall see,
From every clime guests there'll be,
And every nation neath the sun
Will come before the year is run.
Old England, like a mother good,
Remembering not how once we stood
As rebels to the old home fold,
Will give her talent and her gold;
And France, the home of Lafayette,
Does not old friendship now forget;
E'en Egypt, older than them all,
Responds in honor to our call;
Japan and China will be there
And gladly give their ample share;
And Germany, the Fatherland,
Extends a cordial, helping hand.
Nor are these all, for many more
Will send their greetings to our shore.
Then let our people everywhere
Prepare for our Centennial Fair,
And breathe the spirit of the age,
And make their loyal pilgrimage
To Philadelphia.

Let concord reign throughout the land,
Let north and south in peace join hand,
Let both resolve, the past aside,
Whatever good or ill betide,
This union shall forever stand,
And peace be o'er us all,

HISTORY OF ADAMS COUNTY.

PUBLIC OFFICERS,

Congressional, Legislative, Judicial, County, School, &c,

FROM 1800 TO 1876.

The years of the United States are now one hundred, and of Adams county seventy-five.

The history of the former will be well brought out during the coming Centennial season. That of the latter has been fully given in these columns during the last two decades.

In preparing the several Series of "Local History" presented in the COMPILER since the beginning of 1856, little of moment escaped us; and it is safe to assume that no other journal in this whole country has printed more faithfully the history of its own county or locality.

But the older field, that embraced by York county, (from which this was taken in 1800,) before and during the War for Independence, is still rich in history, and to the proper search for and production of this we shall devote no little time during the next twelve months. But our local history will not be exclusively "revolutionary;" other matters of interest will appear as their importance may claim attention.

We start the new year, to day, with a full and accurate list of Public Officials in this county from 1800. Such a list first appeared in the COMPILER in 1856, and again in 1867, with additions. Now we give it up to the present, adding the names of those chosen in the intervening nine years.

To prepare the original involved much labor, and required all the spare hours we could give it during two or three months. That the list should be preserved will occur to all, and we need hardly urge it.

THURSDAY, JAN 6, 1876.

RUMORS come from Washington of possible trouble between the President and Secretary Fish, growing out of our Cuban policy.

THE intent and purpose of the Grant ring is "to let no guilty man escape," and therefore, the best plan is not to try to find out who is guilty.

AS a matter of fact the real concern is not for the schools but for the Republican party, and the real cause of their alarm is not the Pope but the Democracy.—Springfield Republican.

H. R. REVELS, the colored ex United States Senator from Mississippi, has written a letter in regard to the late election in that State in which he takes the ground that the Republicans were defeated through their own corruption.

A NEW ORLEANS paper states that much opposition to Kellogg is developing in the Republican ranks there. Between West Pinchback, Spencer and Kellogg the Radical family in New Orleans is not very harmonious.

GIL HAVEN, it seems is a religious carpet-bagger sent South to heal the differences between the Northern and Southern branches of the Methodist Church. This function he has performed by stirring up animosities between the whites and negroes.

HUNSICKER the Ring candidate for President of the Common Council of Philadelphia was defeated on Monday by Mr Caven, who received the support of honest men among the Republicans and of all the Democrats but one.

THE school question has subsided greatly. For a time it occupied the lion's share of public attention, but the more the matter has been thought on by the people at large the more fully they have reached the conclusion that there is no ground for agitation about it.

THE Washington correspondent of the St Louis Globe Democrat (Radical) is authority for the statement that at an early day the Republican members intend to press a bill removing all political disabilities, which are now confined to only half a dozen persons, Jeff. Davis being the principal one."

CIVIL rights is having a fair practical exemplification in the galleries of the House of Representatives, which according to the Washington Sentinel are "overcrowded with negro lazzaroni to the exclusion of strangers and others who wish to visit Congress and listen to the business, and not merely keep warm."

JUDGE BLACK, of York, expresses the opinion that the adjourned annual session of the Legislature carries with it the organization and unfinished business of the first session. Gov. Allen, of Ohio, writes that this is the practice in that state. The Democratic House caucus at Harrisburg on Monday evening resolved to adhere to the old organization, but did not reach a conclusion as to the unfinished business.

EVEN the organs that were lately waving the bloody shirt seem to think that we have had enough of that sort of thing, and all the better class of Republican papers protest openly against Senator Morton's Mississippi resolutions. This for example, is from the Rochester Democrat: "This investigation had better be left alone. The case is too doubtful. The Democratic House will not, for a moment, entertain it. In the end it can only be provocative of bad blood, and affairs in Mississippi are likely to be worse when it is over than they are now. Let us have peace."

MR RANDALL proposed amendment to the Constitution, fixing the President's term of office at six years and making him ineligible to re-election, meets with very general approval in all portions of the country, and is strongly urged by the leading journals. The reason is presented at a time when its wisdom is so clearly demonstrated by the ambition of the present occupant of the White House that it will prove one of the most prominent questions before the Forty-Fourth Congress. While there may be doubts as to the favorable action of the Senate upon the amendment, we have confidence that the House of Representatives will give strong expression to the popular feeling as to its necessity.

THE latest theory about what Grant is doing is something like this. Fish is to go out and Pierrepont will take his place. Then we shall have a vigorous Cuban policy, and also a vigorous policy toward Mexico. The Border Claims Commission has just finished its work and has contrived to frame up some [illegible] millions as due to the United States from Mexico for the destruction of property that never existed. As Mexico has no money to pay this, we will take some real estate instead, Lower California and a nice slice of Sonora or Chihuahua. This, with the anti-Papal business would make a very nice little third-term policy, and the theory is as plausible as any that we have seen. The only point to be determined is whether Mr Grant could persuade the people to go into two wars, or even one, to further his re-election. It is a little doubtful and the people would not be any more kindly disposed toward Mr Grant if he is going to get them up in partnership with the [illegible] governments.—Times.

THE LEGISLATURE AND THE MESSAGE.—Both Houses of the Legislature met at Harrisburg on Tuesday. The Republicans of the Senate re-elected Mr Davis speaker pro tem, the Democrats refusing to vote because he had been chosen at the end of the session. The House at once proceeded to business, but little was done except the reading of the Governor's message. In this (common place) document we find that since 1865 the common schools have greatly increased, that school property has appreciated from $[illegible] to $2,[illegible] and school expenditures from $[illegible] to $9,[illegible],027. Teachers to the number of [illegible] attended the teachers' institutes [illegible]

The Governor [illegible] an appropriation to give the [illegible] of the State a two weeks frolic at the Centennial next summer.

He proposes that mining troubles be referred to a board of arbitration, composed of three or more judges of courts, as many operators, and a like number of workingmen.

Legislation for the suppression of "tramps" is recommended, and a registry suggested of the beggars, whereby they can be assigned to work on the streets or roads in return for any assistance they may receive.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Correspondence of the Compiler.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1, 1876.

The number of candidates for the Presidency does not decrease as the time for the conflict approaches. Grant, Bristow, Blaine, Morton and Conkling are in the field on the Republican side. Grant stands the best chance with the politicians and is by long odds the favorite with the office holders who pull levers and party managers. If the convention was to be held tomorrow he would be nominated beyond a doubt if the element that rules the Republican party thought he could be elected. The men who manipulate conventions are perfectly satisfied with Grant's administration. There is one thing and one thing only that can prevent them from nominating him, and that is the fear that he could not be elected. If they come to the conclusion that the idea of a third term is so repugnant to the people that Grant would be defeated they will then, but not until then, begin to look out for another man.

The Republican organs are industriously trying to make the best of Mr Fort's resolution, offered in the House some time ago in relation to the appointment of wounded union soldiers to office. Now that the smoke has cleared away from this great gun that was expected to create such consternation and demoralization in the Democratic ranks, and we have time to take a calm survey of the field, we find that it was charged too heavily and has recoiled upon its inventors. It was a shameless piece of political hypocrisy and has returned to roost in the Republican camp. It is only necessary to refer to the appointment under the House of Representatives last year to find that wounded union soldiers were not given the preference by that intensely loyal and patriotic body. Ward politicians and political strikers men who had never sought the bubble reputation at the cannon's mouth and who had never smelt the fumes of burnt powder except at Fourth of July celebrations were the favored when political patronage was to be distributed while wounded union soldiers sat at the street corners, grinding patriotic airs out of wheezy hand organs or displayed their maimed stumps from door to door dumb mouths that plead for charity, whose wounds were their credentials to show that the beggar's occupation was all that was left for them. The whole idea and origin of the Fort resolution was the product of the very lowest order of demagogism, and as a cheap party expedient was a complete failure.

Now that all the Freedman's Banks are busted and Jay Cooke and Henry Clews have retired to the shades of bankruptcy the administration does not have that hold upon the pursestrings of the toiling masses that it desires and it proposes to go into a general banking business and establish postal savings banks all over the country. The administration organs say very prettily that "this subject has always attracted the attention and received the approval of many of our leading statesmen" and that it is pretty generally conceded that the introduction of postal savings banks should not longer be delayed." Why of course it has attracted the attention of leading statesmen. Did any one ever know of any money being around without attracting the attention of "many leading statesmen" of the Republican party? It is very certain also that the introduction of these institutions should no longer be delayed, for is there not an important election to be held this year? and would it not be worth many thousands of votes to control the little savings of the poor? Any scheme that savors of centralization and a paternal form of government anything in fact that would have a tendency to keep the present corrupt horde of office holders in power, is sure to receive the approval of "our leading statesmen" of the Republican persuasion.

In 1875 the greed of the ring robbers in this District became so great that they procured the passage of an act by the then existing District legislature authorizing the Governor to anticipate the revenues from taxes in the district and providing for the issue of tax certificates which were made liens on the properties against which they were issued. These taxes were levied and certificates issued "for the support of the government of the District of Columbia, and for other purposes." It is hardly necessary to say that the lion's share went for "other purposes" and the result can now be seen in the pages of the Washington Star where long columns of advertisements in small type enumerate the properties that are to be sold to the highest cash bidder at public sale at the Collector's office on Monday, Jan 3d 1876. These same being properties against which said liens or tax certificates have been issued and for enforcement of the payment of which the demand for the sale of said properties has been made.

Many blocks of palatial residences have been erected in Washington during Boss Shepherd's regime. They are costly and imposing structures provided with all modern improvements and add much to the beauty of the city. There is food for instruction in these modern palaces. The inquiring stranger cannot fail to note and admire them, and his admiration turns to wonder when he is informed that this block belongs to Shepherd the one on the next street to Grant another to Babcock then another one to Shepherd again and so they alternate until the aforesaid inquiring stranger comes to the conclusion that the triumvirate of Grant, Shepherd and Babcock must own nearly all the fine new buildings in Washington.

These elegant buildings are not the ones that are being sold for taxes. Don't misunderstand us. The properties that are being sold belong to people in moderate circumstances who cannot afford to pay the heavy taxes that are levied on them. LINUS.

CARL SCHURZ put a good deal of truth in this remark to an interviewer the other day:

"Our experience has been that emotional politics such for instance, as the slavery question, will permit a great many persons of unclean character and bad intentions to smuggle themselves into prominence and influence under a cry appealing to the popular heart. During the war many bad things were apt to be overlooked when the men who did them were only right on the main question. In times of great national danger this is old, perhaps not be avoided. You raise the No Popery cry in our national politics and make it the absorbing issue and you will see that all the Joyces and McDonalds will be in a blaze of excitement against the Pope, in the mean time looking for an opportunity to steal all the money they can lay their hands on."

THE following is one of the rules of the Democracy of Bedford county:

"That no person shall be admitted as a delegate to the County Convention nor shall the name of any person be placed in nomination before the Convention, until such delegate or candidate, (or if the candidate be not present some delegate representing him) shall sign the following, prepared by the Secretaries: 'We, the undersigned, do hereby pledge our honor that we will support the ticket this day nominated by this Convention.'"

THE enthusiastic welcome given the Centennial Year in Gettysburg will long be remembered. Though gotten up on the shortest possible notice it proved a grand affair. The clock had hardly struck twelve Friday night, when in the instant light and noise succeeded darkness and quiet. The church bells rang out their loudest. The Cornet Band played "Old Hundred," "America" and "Yankee Doodle" in front of the Court-house, and then took position in the Square, where hundreds of fire works blazed and [illegible] gave vent to patriotic feelings in various ways. Thirty seven guns were fired on Cemetery Hill; [illegible] and fire crackers were heard at every step, [illegible] houses fully lighted, were thrown open and flags swung in the breeze in many points. LOCAL HISTORY.—The list of Public [illegible] printed on our first page [illegible] will be of interest to many Adams county readers [illegible] the present year's subscription. We would suggest that the paper be preserved [illegible] a handy place for reference. [illegible]

This will be followed next year by one of the most interesting chapters of Local History we have ever published. Nothing less than "A List of names of such persons as settled and made improvements in the Manor of Maske [illegible] the 18th day of June, 1741, with the dates of each one's settlement respectively." The Manor of Maske embraced all of Cumberland township including [illegible] and Highland townships.

The papers having been discussed the Society adjourned to meet in special session on the second Tuesday in February.

A committee will accompany the excursionists to all the principal points of interest, the Capitol, the several Departments, White House, Art Galleries &c., and no effort will be spared to make the excursion one of the most pleasant and profitable.

So much sight-seeing for so little money ought to bring out a big crowd for Washington on the 13th.

IN speaking of the recent adjourned Quarter Sessions' Court at York the "True Democrat" says: "Quite a large number of cases were disposed of, and Judge McClean showed his efficiency in more than one instance, as a jurist, by promptly deciding difficult questions of law which were sprung upon him during the week. He conducted the business of the court with dignity and ability and gave satisfaction to the members of the bar (who by the bye are difficult to please) as well as any other persons having business in Court."

The Hanover Drum Corps is getting up an excursion from Gettysburg, Hanover and York to Harrisburg on the occasion of the inauguration of Governor Hartranft—Tuesday the 18th instant. Fare for the round-trip from Gettysburg $2.75, Hanover $2 and York $1.50. The train will leave Gettysburg at 6 in the morning and leave Harrisburg at 6 in the evening.

SHORT WILLS.—The following is going the rounds as a will of model brevity. It was recently probated in a Kentucky court.

Abraham Bledsoe's last will and testament: To my wife Elizabeth I will and bequeath all my personal and real estate, to be used as she pleases with forever.
Oct 1 1851. A. BLEDSOE.

We find one almost as brief among the records in the Register and Recorder's office of this county. It is the will of Rev James Gray, father-in-law of Rev Charles G. McLean, and follows:

JULY 1, 1821.
I, James Gray, being in perfect health of body and mind, make this my last will and testament. I leave to my beloved wife, Mary Ann, all my worldly goods and possessions. JAMES GRAY.

"FACTS ARE STUBBORN THINGS."

Thousands of human beings are yearly borne on the swift current of disease down to the grave, just because they do not possess a sufficient knowledge of themselves. A man meets his neighbor and the first salutation is, "How are you?" or "How is your health?" The reply frequently is, "Oh, I am well, with the exception of a cold." Most persons lightly regard a cold. Reader, do you know a cold is one of the most dangerous of maladies? A cold not only clogs up the pores of the entire system and retards circulation, but it is productive of Catarrh which is quite apt to lead to Consumption. "Oh," you say, "it is nothing but a cold in my head." True, but that cold is really a mild form of Catarrh, and if not arrested in its course will become chronic. Catarrh is one of the most disagreeable offensive affections in the catalogue of diseases. The passage to the nose is obstructed, the sense of smell impaired, and there is a disagreeable sensation of pressure in the head. In many advanced stages there is a discharge of offensive odor. If the disease be allowed to continue in its course, [illegible] which sometimes become ulcerated and break away in pieces. Why will persons continue to suffer from such an annoying, disgusting disease when [illegible] can be cured of it? Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cure the worst forms of Catarrh, in fact it is the only sure and safe remedy which has yet been offered to the public. Many harsh irritating preparations may, for a time relieve the urgency of the symptoms, but they do not cure the disease. Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy is soothing and healing, and when used with Dr Pierce's Nasal Douche, according to directions, does not fail to effect a cure. Sold by all Druggists. B.

THE coming year will be great with responsibilities to us as a people. It will put us on exhibition before all the nations of the earth and subject our material resources, our moral worth and our boasted political institutions to the test of the closest scrutiny and the severest criticism. Moreover it will witness the most important and hotly contested struggle for political supremacy which this country has ever seen, though the present indication of its issue are so auspicious that we bide the issue in hope. If the close of the year now opening shall find the country glorified by a creditable exposition of its resources, and its government restored to the hands of honest men who will administer it to the public good, then the rejoicings with which the birth of 1876 was heralded will not have been mere sounding brass.—*Lanc. APPLE FRITTERS.—Make a batter, not very stiff, with one quart of milk, three eggs, and flour to bring it down to a right consistency. Pare and core a dozen of apples, and chop them to about the size of small peas, and mix them well in the batter. Fry them in lard as you would doughnuts. For trimmings use powdered white sugar.

THE celebration of the centennial New Year's Day was general all through the country.

SENSE VS NONSENSE

MR EDITOR:—My attention has been called to criticisms in the last two issues of the Star and Sentinel upon a certain Chinese lecture delivered before the Teachers' Institute at its last meeting. The former of these is over the nom de plume of "Clarke," the latter appears over the signature of "An Old Teacher." With your permission I propose to reply to both as briefly as possible.

The virtuous "Clarke" undertakes to [illegible] the "elite" of Gettysburg for going to hear a Chinaman, saying that, perchance, "had they been brought as intimately in contact with the Celestials" as he has been and had known as he knows, the treachery and dishonesty, as well as the filthy and disgusting habits of these people, they would have given this Oriental lecturer a wider berth. Now mark, this redoubtable personage does not profess to know anything about the lecture in question and does not have a word to say in regard to the merits or demerits of this particular lecture, but proceeds to condemn both on general principles. A pretty specimen of reasoning, indeed! Because some Chinese are vicious, does it follow that all are worthless? What individual American could stand such a test as that? The fact is the lecturer referred to was genteel, intelligent, interesting and truthful to all who heard him. That he had the sympathy and approbation of his audience was abundantly proved by their close attention and by their frequent and hearty applause. [illegible]

It is no doubt a fact that many Christians [illegible] intemperate. But what of that? [illegible] It may also be a fact that "Clarke" has been unfortunate in his intercourse with the [illegible] Mongolians, [illegible]

[illegible]

Liberty of [illegible] and freedom of speech both public and private [illegible] civilization, have cost the world vast sums of money and rivers of blood. Very early in the history of our species there was an [illegible] of the spirit of intolerance and a disposition of the strong to control the weaker. As time wore on this disposition grew stronger. During the dark ages men were not permitted to express their honest convictions on subjects relating either to government or religion. Then came a period of splendor and still men were persecuted for the sake of their opinions.

Few of the rulers of Europe, [illegible] up to the 17th century tolerated freedom of speech. [illegible] for daring to speak what they thought. The church persecuted those who incurred its displeasure. [illegible] and fanaticism reigned supreme everywhere. It makes the heart sick to contemplate [illegible] the oppression, cruelty, tyranny and persecution of [illegible] their right to think and act for themselves in their search after the truth, the beautiful, and the good. The pages of history will ever remain [illegible] with the pictures of [illegible] suffering of conscientious [illegible].

[illegible] Pilgrim fathers gave to freedom of thought and speech a sublime power when they embarked on their frail vessel [illegible] to find a home in the New World. [illegible] New England [illegible] period of more than two hundred years [illegible] this country the world has been more free [illegible] rich and poor, high and low [illegible]. The pulpit and press are free. The Bill is free. The schools are free. [illegible] Men read what they please and hear whom they like. There is no proscription in this broad, free land. [illegible] Men feel that they are all brothers and meet each other in a charitable and liberal spirit. The millennium seems [illegible] to have dawned. But stop! We are mistaken. There is one spot on God's free earth where [illegible] free speech is sought to be [illegible]. A Teachers' Institute is held in Gettysburg. An intelligent Chinaman delivers an entertaining and instructive lecture on Domestic Life in China, in which he [illegible] to the religious systems of his country. Everybody is pleased except a few antiquated fogies who are never so happy as when [illegible]. One of these [illegible] under the respectable mask of "An Old Teacher" [illegible] the cause of Christ in danger, constitutes himself defender of the faith and rushes into the Star and Sentinel to prove—that he does not understand the first principles of true Christianity. He says he fears that lectures of this sort may bring about an amalgamation of Christianity with Heathenism," and that "such amalgamation would effectually destroy the power and very essence of Christianity." Poor old schoolmaster! [illegible] How silly he becomes when he undertakes to make people believe that Christianity is in danger of being [illegible] by a Chinese lecture! It is a wonder he does not apprehend the same grave danger from [illegible] of Chinese lanterns and Chinese fire crackers.

It is well nigh impious to think that the great Christian religion, that has stood the test of more than eighteen centuries, that has penetrated to the remotest corners of the earth with its beams of light and knowledge, and that has brought the glorious consolations of the Gospel to the millions of the earth, is in danger of being subverted by the inculcation of any truth, physical, moral or religious. Such a thought would seem to indicate a want of faith in God's power and will to maintain His Cause. It is the duty of every sincere lover of truth to follow her at all hazards, after the example of Him who "came into the world that he might bear witness to the truth."

The ancient pedagogue says he is filled with sorrow at the tolerance—yes, "tolerance" is the word—of a Heathen lecturer in our midst. What! Does he mean to say he is sorry a mob was not organized to stone him to death or cast him into a den of bloodthirsty fanatics, to be torn limb from limb? Ah! this same diabolical spirit of intolerance and proscription has been the bane of the church and the curse of the state in all ages. Shame, rather, that such infernal sentiments should find expression in this our Centennial year, and in this our own Gettysburg, the last place in the world where they should even be entertained! Shame! that An Old Teacher should avow himself so hostile to general intelligence, and should live to become so illiberal and intolerant as to deny even to a heathen that freedom of thought and utterance which is the very essence of our holy Christian religion, and without which, humanly speaking, it could never have had an existence. THE DEDICATION of the new Reformed Church at McKnightstown was held at the time previously announced. The weather and roads were not favorable to those living at a distance, but notwithstanding the members of the congregation were nearly all present, with many friends.

After an introductory by the choir, a business session was held to hear the report of the building committee and to solicit subscriptions towards the remaining indebtedness. The whole cost of the building apart from materials applied from the old church and voluntary labor was reported to be $1,878.77. Of this sum there remained $1,187.67 to be provided for. The work was entered upon in good earnest by the ministers present, Rev A. R. Kremer, of Emmitsburg, leading the way, and the people responding steadily and nobly.

When the amount was fully subscribed, the services proper were introduced by an appropriate selection by the choir. The dedicatory act was performed by the Pastor, Rev A. J. Heller. Dr M. Kieffer preached the sermon, which was an instructive, forcible and eloquent discourse, based on Haggai 2:9: "The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the Lord of hosts, and in this place will I give peace, saith the Lord of hosts."

In the evening Rev A. R. Kremer preached an excellent sermon bearing on the outgoing of the old year and the incoming of the new year, which is, at the same time, the centennial of our nation's history. On Saturday nine persons were received into the full communion of the church by the holy rite of confirmation. In the evening the pulpit was filled by the Rev H. F. Long, of the Lutheran church. On Sunday morning the Lord's Supper was celebrated by the congregation. Rev D. W. Wolff the former pastor of this people, was also present during most of the services but we regret to say, was too feeble to raise his voice in behalf of a cause which had his sympathy and prayers.

During the invasion of the rebel army in '63 the records of the congregation were lost, and hence we have not the means at hand to learn when and by whom the congregation was organized. The old church owned jointly by the Reformed and Lutherans stood for a period of 52 years. The pastors were in order as nearly as we can say: Revds L. L. Hinsch, B. Schneck, Samuel Gutelius, L. A. Gerhart, Jacob Ziegler, F. P. Bacher, D. W. Wolff and A. J. Heller.

Early last spring the Reformeds purchased the interest of the Lutherans in the old (Union) church, which stood one mile west of McKnightstown, took down the building and applied the material to the erection of a new church at McKnightstown. The new church is a beautiful gothic edifice, 60 by 36 feet with a pulpit recess 4 feet in depth, a basement which contains a vestibule, lecture room and two side rooms. The audience room is symmetrical in proportions, beautiful, chaste and churchly in all its appointments. The pulpit, altar, reading desk and baptismal font are of walnut, inclosed by chancel railing. There are three aisles two at the sides and one in the middle. The windows are of stained glass, special design. The building is surmounted by a handsome cupola containing a finely toned bell. The whole cost of the building including materials of the old church and voluntary labor, is about $7,000. Altogether it is a structure that speaks well for the energy, liberality and taste of both pastor and people. The good people of the town and vicinity may well rejoice and be thankful for the privileges and blessings this addition to the place brings to them.

We must not omit to say that one of the most interesting features of the occasion were the efficient services rendered by the Gettysburg Reformed choir, and they have the merited thanks of the congregation for their generous response to the invitation extended them.

For the Compiler.

He was a western man, probably from St Louis on a tour east, to visit some friends and the battle field. He was sitting quietly in the office of one of our principal hotels puffing away at a huge Connecticut seed cigar as only an old smoker knows how. He hadn't spoken a word to any one since his arrival. Everybody in the room was casting sly glances at him, and he saw nobody. After finishing his cigar he leisurely rose up from his chair and stepped up to the bar, leaned on one elbow, and, shutting his left eye, said "Babcock," and nothing more. The experienced bar-tender asked, without any hesitation, "straight or crooked?" and the stranger answered "crooked" and forthwith the accommodating man behind the bar cut off a large piece of lemon into a glass and handed it with the decanter to the western man, who after having helped himself and settled his bill took his departure. I felt a little curious to know what it all meant and, stepping up, asked the polite man how he knew what the stranger wanted. He said he had never heard the drink called for before but he knew he wanted whiskey. But how did you know how he wanted it? I asked. "Ah! there is where I would have been at a loss had my reading of fact had been less; but I instantly knew my ignorance would lower me in that man's estimation if he discovered it, and so I asked him 'straight or crooked?' He answered 'crooked,' and I knew he wanted lemon, for it meant that crooked whiskey has soured since the exposures. 'Babcock' stands for whiskey, 'straight or crooked,' according as the man believes in the General's innocence or guilt. That man would send Babcock to the penitentiary, with McDonald and Joyce if he were on a jury trying him, I'll bet," said the bar-tender, and I walked home wondering how some people learnt so much these dull times.

MR GRANT is not in favor of a reduction of the army. Of course he is not. As a military man, a natural presumption would be that the military would be the last department he would consent to have reduced. But apart from this there is that behind, the strange movements of the soldiery of late and unwonted activity in the navy, that is calculated to encourage the idea that Grant meditates war in some direction, and is making the necessary preparations. What nation is to be attacked or from whose attacks are we to be defended, does not yet appear, but there can no longer be a doubt that in order to gratify the fighting propensities of Gen. Grant, the country is to be plunged into war once more.—Phila. Chronicle.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Cincinnati Commercial, traveling in the interior South, writes of the Centennial: "In Southern towns I hear more said about it and more plans laid to go to Philadelphia next year than in the North. In proportion to population I think there will be as large an attendance from the Southern States, particularly from the Eastern Southern States, as from the North."

At noon the Tree was stripped of its fruit and the scholars given what was assigned them. The teacher, Mr. J. J. THIS WILL NOTIFY THE PUBLIC of our intention to put NEW and LOWER PRICES on much of our Stock.

THE YEAR'S CLOSING OUT SALE WILL COMMENCE AT HALF-PAST SIX O'CLOCK, EACH WEEK-DAY MORNING, and CONTINUE UNTIL OUR FALL AND WINTER STOCK IS SOLD.

THE MAIN FACT IS:

We have made up TOO MANY OVERCOATS and SUITS for this year, and to transfer our Stock into Cash needed for preparations for 1876, we will make certain sacrifices which will be apparent ON AND AFTER WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER FIRST, when we shall have gone through our Salesrooms and cut off Profits, and even a part of the cost, from many of our present prices.

To be very exact in stating this matter, as we do not intend that any advertisement or custom of our house shall mislead the public in the least particular, we think it proper to say, that this Mark Down, whilst it applies to

A THOUSAND AND MORE OVERCOATS,
A THOUSAND AND MORE BUSINESS COATS,
HUNDREDS OF DRESS COATS,
SEVERAL THOUSAND VESTS,
SEVERAL THOUSAND PAIRS OF PANTS,

and extends throughout our house, yet there are some lots in which (as they have already been marked at close prices,) we shall make no change. We desire to announce that this is

OUR FINAL AND ONLY MARK DOWN THIS SEASON,

So that NONE NEED WAIT for Lower Prices. The step we take will wonderfully aid those who feel like Economizing.

The Terms of the Sale are the Usual Terms of Our House:

1.—No second or Altered Price—ONE FIXED PRICE.
2.—Cash from All, to warrant Low Prices.
3.—The Contract on our part, to return money, is a part of the bargain in each case (provided goods are returned unworn.)
4.—A Full Guarantee given for each garment. The Stock we offer is all New, and not "Bought" or "Wholesale" stock, but our own CAREFULLY MADE CLOTHING. It will be remembered that our stock always embraces the Choicest Styles of Substantial Goods, and that Every Size and Shape is provided for both Men and Boys. It will also be borne in mind that there is but ONE OAK HALL, and that is at the corner of SIXTH SIXTH SIXTH SIXTH and MARKET Streets.

FARM AND GARDEN.

COOKED FOOD FOR CATTLE.

The matter of cooking food for cattle is now being put to practical tests on the farm of Mr. Wm. M. Hersh, two miles north of Gettysburg. A small steamer, procured at Pittsburgh, is in daily use steaming cut cornfodder, and we are informed that its work is done with great rapidity and thoroughness, and at comparatively small expense.

PROF. WILKINSON, of Baltimore, says:—I conducted an agricultural school and experimental farm for eight years, and experimented with feeding cooked and uncooked food of every description used for cows, horses, swine, working and fattening cattle, and poultry, and carefully noted the result, which was in all cases very remunerative; so much so that even with the defective, inconvenient and expensive apparatus used for want of better—in steaming, manipulating, and feeding—I found there was an average profit of fully 25 per cent., that is, in feeding the variety of animals named; but in feeding milk cows in cold weather with warmed, steamed food of every description, there was a profit of over 50 per cent., when the animals were kept at proper temperature, and fed with proper proportions of nutritious food.

THE following, written for the Compiler, was mislaid for several weeks, and hence escaped attention until now:

WINTERING BEES.

The time has again arrived that brings fears to many bee keepers—lest the colonies that have been their care and pride during their pleasant summer months, perish during the winter.

Many of these fears can be avoided by a little care now.

Bee-keepers should examine every stock carefully and be sure that each one has from twenty to thirty pounds of honey. It is not a safe plan to judge by "lifting," as some colonies have old, heavy combs, and often large amounts of bee-bread. Some have more honey than they need, while others have not enough. Changing a few frames of rich stores with the needy is very beneficial. Feeding may still be done, but should not be long delayed. Honey boards should now be removed, and bee quilts used instead. They are made by cutting two pieces of any kind of cloth, (light woolen cloth is best) a little larger than the inside of the hive above the frames, and sewing one thickness of sheet wadding between the cloth. Contract the entrance that only two or three bees can pass. Old carpet or any coarse material may be used instead of quilts. Before putting on the quilts lay a small strip half an inch in thickness across the frames and park the quilt tight all around the hive. Do not disturb the bees till near spring, and don't fret about ventilation, as the quilts keep them dry and comfortable, and allow enough of air to pass through, and not too much.

Wintering in cellars is much recommended. The cellar must be dark, of even temperature, and perfectly dry, to insure success.

Adams county bee-keepers would do best to winter their bees on their summer stands. The hives should be protected from cold winds, under a shed, weatherboarded in the rear. The hives placed on stands from six to ten inches from the ground, and about eight inches apart. A board placed obliquely against the front of the hive six inches above the entrance, and others so placed as to form a box, then fill all space between the hives in front, rear and over them with straw, leaves, or any material that will protect them from the cold.

We have wintered our bees in this way the past three years with entire success. They remain quiet and comfortable, and consume but little honey. They will not fly unless the weather is sufficiently warm that nearly all can return to the hive; thus only a few are lost on the snow, while hives unprotected lose great numbers. In warm days the sun warms the hive, the bees become restless and fly out, get chilled, drop on the snow and are gone to rise no more.

Bees in box hives should have some ventilation at the top of the hive, one or two inch holes bored through the top board, and covered with a heavy woolen cloth and an inverted box set on top to prevent a draught through the hive, and then treated as above will insure success in most cases.

We trust all will take good care of their bees and not say the bees do no good when the fault lies in their own carelessness.

Correspondents will please give their full address, as we do not know where all bee-keepers reside. We can sometimes only reach them through the press, which is not always convenient.

Bendersville, Pa. S. RIEM.

THE BERKSHIRE HOG.—At a late State Fair in the East, there was not one white hog exhibited. All were black, and either Berkshire or Essex. At the largest of the Western State Fairs, that of Illinois, nearly all the hogs were black, or black and white. This would seem to indicate a rapid growth of black breeds in the public favor, and of these Berkshire takes the lead. The Berkshire as we know him, is a moderately large hog, with a smooth, round carcass, broad across the shoulders, well developed, and round hams, a long, deep flitch, very fine, small bony legs and feet, short face and snout, and covered with a good coat of long, silky black hair. In many good Berkshires the bluish or slate colored tint and thin hair of the Neapolitan hog which has been crossed upon it, is very conspicuous; but it is a question if the black, well-haired animal, is not the more vigorous and thrifty sort.

THE Massachusetts Ploughman says farmers leave their young cattle out too late in the season. "Exposure to cold weather checks their growth, and any check in the growth and thrift of young stock is apt to prove disastrous." The true system of raising young cattle is to keep them well fed and thriving right straight along. Let cattle or sheep get hunger-bitten from poor keep when young, and the evil will cling to them.

NEW WAY TO FRY APPLES.—This old-fashioned dish may be improved by frying in this way: Lay some small bits of salt pork on the griddle; when very hot, lay pieces of apple as large as you can cut with the skin uppermost, upon the griddle. They must be laid singly, like griddle cakes. Cook not too fast; when well browned, turn them, sprinkle with salt; and when soft through, arrange on a plate. They make a tempting dish.

"DOES cooking injure the health of stock?" asks an agricultural exchange. Not if the stock has been properly killed.

E. ROTH,

NEW OXFORD,

GIVES full satisfaction to all who have examined it, and is now being arranged to a number of Windows in this county. Persons who have examined its construction and operation, have no hesitation in asserting that it is an improvement which should be arranged to the windows in every house in the country, and needs but to be seen in order to be appreciated.

The days for the construction of windows, so that the beads, &c., must be taken loose each time that the sash are taken from the frame, are gone by. No person will build a house and have the frames made in the old manner when he can have them made with this new arrangement, and at but little more cost than the old kind of frame.

The essential parts in this arrangement are all covered with Patents, and are entirely owned and held by me; and I challenge the world TO PRODUCE ITS EQUAL.

Persons building houses, and all who may wish the right of territory, address

INVALIDS,

Don't Despair!

Thousands have found relief, and thousands will turn to this Medicine, after exhausting their purses and patience in search of health. Giddiness of the head, dullness of the mind, fetid breath, coated tongue, loss of appetite, pains and weakness in the stomach, enlargement of the liver, yellowness of the skin, constant fever and thirst, with a total disrelish for business, pleasure, or any kind of employment. FAHRNEY'S PANACEA, if taken and persevered in for a few days, will remove this whole class of symptoms. The fluids of the body become pure, and mind clear, the stomach strengthened, the tongue clean, the appetite improved, and the whole system benefitted that disease, in bad weather, is less liable to afflict you.

Dr. P. FAHRNEY'S

Celebrated

Blood Cleanser or Panacea.

As a medicine for children, the Panacea is, in every way, calculated to take the place of the endless variety of drugs which are annually sold for that purpose, and which are often very injurious. A medicine which possesses the qualities of a cathartic as well as a mild alterative, and which is capable of arresting disease without the least injury to the child, is of inestimable value to every mother. As a cathartic, it is very effective, yet it does not, if given in proper quantities, cause nausea or distress in the stomach or bowels. It is very pleasant to the taste, which is a very important feature as a medicine for children. As a preventive of disease it is unprecedented, as it acts directly upon the digestive organs and the blood. In all scrofulous diseases, it is the most effective medicine ever offered to the public; and, if given regularly and perseveringly, those eruptive diseases so common to children may be entirely eradicated.

Prepared by P. Fahrney's Bros. & Co., Waynesboro', Pa., and Dr. P. FAHRNEY, 30 North Dearborn street, Chicago. For sale by wholesale and retail dealers, and by A. D. BUEHLER and J. M. HUBER Gettysburg.
